ADVENTIST CHURCH

Rufus B. McDannel, Pastor
Sabbath School Lesson—May 16.
Subject – What's Bothering You?
Keytext: "For thou Lord, art good, and ready to forgive, and plenteous in mercy unto all them that call upon Thee."
Psalms 86:5

Among the dragers which beset us in our relationships with one another and with God is the tenderecy to be unkind and unforgiving. In the parables we shall study - Christ deals with the condition of man's heart. In our first parable, a man, after he had been forgiven his enormous debt, was neither grateful nor kind. He went and gave vent to his feelings against one who had injuried him only slightly.

At the feast in his house Simon the sinner blamed Christ for not condemning Mary the forgiven sinner. Feelings of self-justification overrode all his feelings of love. In the story of the two boys, independence and rebellion were causing their problem.

The crooked manager looked only to himself – and as we study these stories we may as well inquire of ourselves. Am I allowing anything to irratate and destroy my peace of mind?

Lesson Outline: 1. Runaway Debt. Matt. 18:23-27. 2. As I Have Loved You, Matt. 18:28-35. 3. What Was Bothering Simon? Luke 7:36-39. 4. Love Power, Luke 7:40-43. 5. The Easy Yes, Matt. 21:28-32. The Shark, Luke 16:1-9.

May we lift up our heads and rejoice knowing our redemption draweth nigh. Luke 21:28. Read the whole chapter.

JACKIE BUSSARD

We first remember Jackie Bussard as a husky Little Leaguer who almost had to belt one over the fence to reach first base. Later we had him in class as an eighth grader and for the next four years we watched his progress as a footballer, a sport he dearly loved.

An intensely popular student who was elected president of both his Valley High junior and senior class, Jackie was the type of a person who made things happen rather than just waiting for them to happen.

This spirit of adventure that was such an inherent part of his nature helped Jackie make up his mind for a career as a Virginia State Trooper and though interesting, Jackie longed for the day when his stint as a dispatcher would be concluded.

November, 1969. Jackie made the jump from dispatcher to State Trooper and he was now strictly a member of the Seventh Heaven fraternity. We recall his telling us how interesting his life had become since joining the Virginia State Police. "I think I should pay them rather than them paying me," he told us in a conversation in Al Hick's garage last January.

Now he's gone killed in the line of duty when his cruiser crashed into an Army truck while he was answering an attempted suicide call.

Words can become cheap trifles and all the expressions of our sorrow can't blunt one iota the remorse that all feel for the loss of this very wonderful young man. Yes, he was Woody and Juanita's boy, but in a broader sense he belonged to all of us in Bath County and the sharp sting of his leaving has cut us all intensely. Not surprising that his was a very, very large funeral. Not surprising that former classmates want to perpetuate his memory with a lasting memorial. Jackie loved and Jackie was loved in return. The word for its beauty can be a very tragic place. All of us mourn the brutality of it all Wednesday. May 6, when the news of Jackie's death sifted to all corners of the county. Deus vobiscum, Jackie. God be with you!

From Bath County ENTERPRISE Thurs. May 14, 1970

Note Added by Mrs. Rachel F. Lawson

Jackie Monroe Bussard came to Appomattox from his home in Hot Springs on November 16, 1966 and served as a dispatcher for the Third Division Headquarters. After reaching the age of 21, he started training for a State Trooper and was graduated from the State Police School in Richmond on Dec. 12, 1969. He was then assigned to Second Division and stationed at Manassas.

He met a tragic death in line of duty near mid-night on May 6, when he was answering a call to save the life of someone else, near Dumfries on U. S. Rt. 1.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bussard of Hot Springs, and a sister, Miss LaDonna Bussard, a student at Longwood College, Farmville, and a foster sister, Miss Nancy Keyster of Hot Springs.

During his three years in Appomattox, Jackie lived in the home of Mrs. Rachel F. Lawson. The news of his tragic death grieved the host of friends he made while living here. He was popular with both young and old and especially his co-workers. His contagious smile and deep dimples were his trade marks and will never be forgotten.

Revival

There will be an all-day revival at the Church of Prophecy at Appomattox beginning at 7:30 on May 24, through the 31st.

The guest speaker will be Rev. W. S. Pasmore. The public is invited. The church is located on Church Hill in the center of town.

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

SOME PEOPLE THINK ELECTRIC HEAT IS ONLY FOR THE RICH.

Except those who have it.

All kinds of people who work for a living have electric heat.
People just like you.
They know the value of a dollar. And when they spend it on something as important as home heating, they want total value.
They choose electric heat because it's cleaner, safer, quieter, and more flexible than any other system. It's the only system that will be as up-to-date years from now as it is today.
So when you consider the cost of a heating system, consider the value. Ask yourself whether any other heating system offers more for the money than flameless electric heat.
Ask your developer, architect, or heating contractor about today's best heating value. Electric.
And if people wonder why you're working, tell them it's just a hobby.

Letter To The Editor

May 18, 1970

Lloyd Vaughan, Editor
Times-Virginian
Appomattox, Virginia

Dear Mr. Vaughan:

Would you kindly re-print the following excerpt from an article that appeared in The News on Thursday, May 14, 1970, in a column written by Calvin Porter, sports editor of The News.

In our area, I feel that the TIMES-VIRGINIAN has better coverage than the Lynchburg newspaper and I'm sure the people are quite interested in all articles concerning Mr. Gordon Bragg.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Lloyd Hudson

Woody Elliott, a minister and Campbell County school teacher, once was an umpire, and there's one game he'll never forget. He was assigned to umpire a Appomattox game (when Gordon Bragg also was doing the baseball team) and he admits he was impressed by the prospects.

He had heard of Bragg's reputation with officials (which officials say isn't as bad as legend has it) and he admits to being quite nervous about it.

Elliott was calling the bases that day and the Appomattox batter was out at first base by a step or two.

Elliott looked up and saw Bragg charging from the bench. He retreated; perhaps, looking for a place to hide. After all, he was new at the business of umpiring.

But instead of Bragg arguing about the call, as he had expected, the Appomattox mentor with much kicking exclaimed: "Woody, how are you. It's good to see you" and continued with the pleasantries.

Elliott was puzzled and it must have shown on his face, as Bragg explained something to the effect that eyes were down and he hoped to arouse some action on them.

"We have often wondered what managers and players say to the umpires when they go out apparently to protest — now we know.

This reminds us of a story told on Casey Stengel when he was managing those amazing Mets, who used to do no right their first few years of existence.

The marvelous Marv" Throneberry rapped a triple and was called out for missing second base. Casey came out to protest, and his third base coach Cookie Lavagetto cautioned him against arguing too strenuously. "Why?" asked the skipper.

"He didn't touch first either," the coach replied.

Winners At 'Fun Pet Show'

The fleur-de-lis was a common design in ancient times where it was used as the symbol of life. Thus, it is an especially appropriate symbol for the Memorial Gifts Program of the American Cancer Society which honors the departed and, at the same time, provides a means "THAT OTHERS MAY LIVE."

The three points of the inner flower in the Society's stylized variation of the fleur-de-lis represent Research, Education, and Service, often referred to as the Society's three-pronged attack on cancer.

The outer petals suggest a reaching out toward more knowledge about cancer and its ultimate control.

Memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society can help bring closer the moment of ultimate triumph over cancer. A check to the Society will establish a Memorial for a departed friend or loved one. For further information, please call any office of the Society.
